This has reference to the news article entitled "Semirara eyes higher coal production in 2022" posted in manilastandard.net on May 2, 2022, which reported in part that:

"Integrated energy company Semirara Mining and Power Corp. is looking at slightly higher coal production this year to 15 million metric tons from 14.3 million MT in 2021, a top executive said.

'Overall, we expect stable output from the coal segment given the controlled water level at Molave NB7. Our goal is to produce up to 15 million metric tons. This should allow us to sell around 15 million metric tons of coal,' SMPC president Cristina Gotianun said during the company's annual stockholders' meeting.

She said that at an annual coal production rate of 13 million to 16 million metric tons, 'the company has enough coal reserves until the expiration of its coal operating contract in 2027.'

With reference to the foregoing newspaper article, we confirm the above statement of the Corporation's President and Chief Operating Officer, Maria Cristina C. Gotianun.

The information in the above-mentioned news article constitutes forward-looking statements and does not guarantee future performance and undue reliance should not be placed on them.
